Awards Ceremony

NOVEMBER 8, 2012

On the evening of November 8, 2012, New England's residential design community came together for a sixth time to celebrate the premier figures and institutions in our region.

The scene was set with gorgeous flower arrangements by Winston Flowers and the State Room's dramatic views of the Boston skyline. Following a festive cocktail hour, guests settled in for dinner and the event kicked off with the presentation of the 2012 New England Design Hall of Fame scholarship to Norwich University's School of Architecture + Art. The amount will sponsor a spring 2013 design/build studio for third- and fourth-year architecture students who will create the kitchen casework for Norwich University's DOE Solar Decathlon Delta-T90 house.

New England Home's homes editor, Stacy Kunstel, was emcee for the night, and the cheers were enthusiastic as she presented awards to the 2012 New England Design Hall of Fame inductees: architects Bruce Beinfield and Lyman S. A. Perry; interior designers Nanette Lewis and Heather G. Wells; and landscape architects James Doyle, Kathryn Herman and Morgan Dix Wheelock.
